Hixburg

Hixburg, Nov. 7.- Sunday was a proud moment for the Youth Choir of Walker's Presbyterian Church, when they donned their new robes, for which they had worked to buy. All fitted-out and white - collars gleaming, the procession marched up the aisle to the choir benches. The special music was (Miles Wilson's) interpretation of "In The Garden."

The youngest members, Margaret Ann Goin, 11, daughter of Mr. DeWitt Goin, and Judy Gok., 10, Mr. Frank Goin's daughter, sang the solo parts.

Although Dr. Twyman Williams, the pastor, had been sick for three weeks, he filled his regular appointment at Hixburg. He looked down proudly on the bright faces of the choral group that Walter Carson was directing. The young voices rang out clear and true while Mrs. Walter Carson softly played the accompaniment.

A social hour was initiated at the Pamplin Methodist Church last week. After services on Wednesday and Friday evenings, the congregation was invited to the church din- g roo mwhere coffee and light re- ---- were served.

---mond for some time.

The get-together proved very effective in promoting Christian fellowship, and in giving an opportunity to meet and talk with other people, whom one would seldom see outside the church.

The Rev. Aaron Smith, of Appomattox was guest speaker for that week's revival which began on Sunday evening, Oct. 30, after the day's most successful Home Coming the Pamplin Methodist Church had experienced in 20 years. The Rev. C. P. Price is pastor.

Miss Frances Hix, Subscription Secretary for The Religious Herald, a Baptist journal which is published in Richmond, was week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson Hix.

Mrs. Lillian Glenn Gilliam, of Roanoke was the house guest of Mrs. Boyd Ford and Mrs. H. M. Marshall on Friday afternoon and night. Her son, Herbert, also of Roanoke spent Friday night in the home of Mr. Eugene Sears.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack K. Marshall guests for Saturday evening dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Sears.
